It seems that the weather did not interfere with the North Carolina strawberry growers as much as the railroads. Over $200,000 worth of fruit was lost owing to poor shipping facilities.

The observation of May Day in Russia did not cause much excitement, the girls being the only ones to make much of a demonstration, and the Russian soldiers easily whipped them into subjection.

From president down there is not a member of the faculty of East Florida Seminary but what has the highest respect of every person in Gainesville, for their abilities as instructors and the moral example they set before our young people.

The people of Alachua county are very fortunate in having plenty of rain so far this season, and if you want to find the best county in the State in which to locate, why we would recommend Alachua, which is never behind in receiving the necessities required to produce the best from the soil.

On May 16th, 1767, the first performance on the piano was had at the Theatre Royal, Covent Garden, London, England. "The Beggars" was the opera presented, and on the program was the announcement: "Miss Brickler will sing a favorite song from Judith, accompanied by Mr. Diddin on a new instrument called the piano forte."

The eastern portion of the city is growing up as if by magic and the number of new residences that have been erected this year, and which are now in process of erection, is a surprise to those who do not visit that section very often. The east portion of the city is fast becoming the popular residence portion and property is held at a good figure.

FRIENDS OF EDUCATION.

Radical changes in the methods of running or the concentration of the educational institutions of the State, will have a more or less demoralizing effect on the progress Florida is making along this line, and it is a question whether the disorganizing of our colleges would be endorsed by a majority, if they realized what was being done.

Even if a central college were organized in the geographical center of the State, with the ablest instructors in the land at its head, the distance many students would have to travel from the extreme ends of the State to reach such an institution, would make it impossible for many students of moderate means to enjoy its benefits.

The moral atmosphere surrounding many of the smaller institutions of learning are often considered by parents who have children they desire to gain something more than a high school education, and it is often the case that parents think as much of the influence surrounding their children as they do of the school to which they desire to send them.

And the reputation of a school is not built in a day. Years are consumed to develop a school or college, although a good name may be lost in less time. The college that has a high standing, attained by means of earnest endeavor, when in the hands of a thorough faculty, is sure to be endorsed by the best people in the community where it is located, and the endorsement of these people does much to build up the patronage.

A competent faculty is secured by a competent board of trustees—men who have an interest in the work for the good of the rising generation—and it is certain that a board which is the least indifferent will not do the work as faithfully as men who have their heart in the cause and take pride in the advancement they feel that their efforts have brought forth.

Centralization in the power of the government of our common country is disapproved by those who love its institutions—the Democratic principles upon which this country is founded, and if we desire to be the friends of education, is it not better to have schools from which parents can select to send their children, rather than be compelled to send them where they are obliged to take one thing or nothing? Associations have much to do with the training of the young, and where the conjunction is agreeable to the parents, there they prefer to have their children make their start up the ladder toward the pinnacle.

The warm days we have endured during the month have been quite demoralizing to ambition, and quite anything was resorted to as a pastime. At a certain residence a few evenings ago a young man was engaged in a praiseworthy effort to entertain four young ladies, and his fund of original humor from Ezra Kendall's funny books was quite exhausted, when he noticed a man passing along the walk who was in Dr. Osler's list. He looked at the man and then said to one of the ladies that he wouldn't like to be old and bald like some people. The young lady encouraged him by saying: "You will never be bald. The soil is too soft and yielding; you will always have a good head of hair."

Italian Farmers for Georgia.

Macon, Ga., May 17.—A letter to the chamber of commerce Monday announced that B. F. Buck, secretary of the Italian Immigration society, had just sailed from Italy to perfect arrangements for bringing a few colonies of Italian farmers to this country. The letter stated that Mr. Buck would visit Macon and see the situation near here before attempting to locate any of the colonies.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

INCITED MUTINY.

An English Admiral Once Did This by Royal Command.

Not only did an English admiral once receive instructions to incite his men to mutiny, but he actually carried his instructions out.

On the eve of the death of James I., and as a result of Prince Charles' marriage to Henrietta Maria, Buckingham agreed to lend the Vanguard and seven merchantmen to the French. Before his promise was fulfilled the Huguenot rebellion at Rochelle broke out, and by the time Sir John Pennington, who had been put in command, was ready to sail the authorities in England became disagreeably aware that their ships would be used against the French Protestants.

Buckingham was conscious of the storm of indignation this would arouse in England. In his perplexity the only solution that occurred to him was to instruct Pennington to get his men to mutiny. A secret message to this effect was sent him through the Earl of Pembroke, and Sir John, who had no wish to hand the ships over to the French, obeyed and allowed his crew to carry him and his officers back to England.

Trees That Make a Noise.

A curiosity is known in the tropics as the sand bark tree and also as the monkey's dinner bell. It has a round, hard shelled fruit about the size of an orange, which when ripe and dry bursts open with a sharp noise like the report of a pistol. Its juice is poisonous. The South American trumpet tree might furnish a band with musical instruments, inasmuch as its hollow branches are utilized for horns and also for drums.

APPEARING OLD

Acts as a Bar to Profitable Employment.

You cannot afford to grow old. In these days of strenuous competition it is necessary to maintain, as long as possible, one's youthful appearance. It is impossible to do this without retaining a luxurious growth of hair.

The presence of Dandruff indicates the presence of a burrowing germ which lives and thrives on the roots of the hair until it causes total baldness. Newbro's Herpicide is the only known destroyer of this pest, and it is as effective as it is delightful to use.

Herpicide makes an elegant hair dressing as well as Dandruff cure.
